

COMPROMISE IS OFFERED BY CC ON JAIL SITE

A compromise plan for the location of the new Adams county jail on county property on the Biglerville road, but far enough back from the highway so that land fronting the road may be used, at some future date, for building lots, was presented to the county commissioners today by the Chamber of Commerce.

The submission of this compromise followed a meeting in the commissioners' office February 8 at which speakers said the erection of the new jail along the highway would prevent future residential expansion in this area. The Chamber of Commerce representatives agreed at that time to conduct a survey and present recommendations to the commissioners.

Henry W. Garvin, president of the Chamber, and Henry M. Scharf, appeared for the Chamber today. Moving the jail location back 200 feet from the Biglerville road would leave room for building lots in front of the jail and space for a new, 25-foot street, they said.

Not in Favor of Selling Lots
Mr. Scharf and Mr. Garvin conceded that to move the county home and build the new jail at some other location than the county-owned property would cost at least $500,000, an amount of money which the county is not in a position to raise or spend now.

There was no suggestion that building lots would become immediately available, and Attorney Eugene V. Bullett, counsel for the commissioners, said the present commissioners did not favor selling lots on the Biglerville road. A driveway, lawn and shrubbery will front the jail when it is built, the commissioners said.

It was also suggested that should the present county home buildings be condemned at a future date, the county-owned tract provides sufficient room to erect new county home buildings far enough from the Harrisburg road to provide additional lots on this highway.

The possibility was also seen that an exercise yard at the jail will not be required. The present plans call for a wire screen instead of a wall around the jail yard. Relative attractiveness of the jail building itself was stressed. The windows will have no bars, commissioners said.

1942 Palm Sunday Storm In Gettysburg

Today's snowfall, heavy though it seemed to the man who swung the shovel that cleared the walks, was a mere 10 to 13 inches and hardly can be compared with the storm of March 29, 1942, when snow up to 40 inches in depth blanketed the county. The pictures above were taken during the 1942 Palm Sunday week-end storm. The upper left picture shows the first block on Carlisle street when cars were almost buried by the storm. At lower left is a scene as familiar today as it was in 1942 — the girl is Jean Keefe, a Gettysburg college co-ed at that time. The man up to his waist in snow is "Hen" Schwartz, star wrestler at Gettysburg college in 1942. The snow was on the college campus. At right Lawrence M. Sheads points to a sign in center square which shows the 1942 snow at that spot to be two feet deep. The depth of snow in Gettysburg in the Palm Sunday storm in '42 was 24 inches.

TWO VIEWS OF CHRIST GIVEN BY DR. SOCKMAN

Two views of Christ, as the Prince of Peace, and as the Pioneer of Life, were presented by the Rev. Dr. Ralph W. Sockman, pastor of Christ Methodist church, New York City, in a sermon at the Gettysburg Methodist church Tuesday evening, with the assertion that the world today needs much of both conceptions of the Savior.

Because of the weather, attendance at the church service was smaller than anticipated. The scripture lesson was read by the Rev. Floyd A. Carroll, pastor of the church, and the prayer given by the Rev. Dr. Ralph R. Gresh, pastor of St. James Lutheran church, who also closed the service with the benediction. Special music was rendered by a mixed quartet from Trinity Evangelical and Reformed church.

"Background and Foreground"
Dr. Sockman said that the word "prince" suggested background while "pioneer" was suggestive of the foreground. "We need a better combination today in our thinking, of background and foreground," Dr. Sockman said. "We especially need to see behind when we turn to new things," he added. "We need to know what is good in the American background. We need to know what is true and right in the past so we can know what to do in the future."

Dr. Sockman said, however, that it is possible to get too much background. (Please Turn to Page 6)

BRINKERHOFF TO RETIRE MARCH 1

C. F. Brinkerhoff, veteran of more than a quarter century of service as an electrical company workman, will retire March 1 from the employ of the Metropolitan Edison company.

He began work as a meter reader after having been one of the six men to sponsor the construction of the first electric line to York Springs by the Cumberland Valley Light and Power company. He served that company as meter reader, collector and line repairman.

The Cumberland Valley company sold out to the Metropolitan Edison and Mr. Brinkerhoff continued in the same capacities with that concern for 22 years. For the last three years he has been working as a clerk at the local office of the company.

During Mr. Brinkerhoff's years of service, he has seen electrical service in this county expand from a few main lines to the network that today carries current to every section of the county and serves hundreds of industrial and domestic purposes.

Mrs. Brinkerhoff will continue to collect electric bills at York Springs after her husband's retirement.

CAPT. HEINEY SERVED AS FUEL SUPPLY OFFICER

Gasoline by the billions of gallons was ready to be poured into the tanks of America's fighting ships, planes, tanks, trucks, jeeps, and other mechanical equipment. . . . Nearly 1,000 huge tank ships, each capable of carrying several million gallons of gasoline were assigned for the task of hauling the fuel through the waters of the Pacific to the shores of Japan. . . .

And thus one section of America's fighting force completed its work preparatory for the invasion of Japan, an invasion that never came because the atomic bomb made it unnecessary.

On Nimitz Staff

Captain Joseph Heiney, Chambersburg street, now home on leave, and one of 26 U. S. army officers assigned to the staff of Admiral Nimitz, told of the preparations made for fueling the American invasion of Japan to a reporter for The Gettysburg Times. Captain Heiney was one of the men directly responsible for the planning, as he would have been of seeing that the fuel got to Japan and was put ashore for use of the armed forces if the invasion had gone on as planned.

The sea-going soldier, inducted after 17 years with Standard Oil, as a private, rose to the rank of lieutenant and was sent to Washington to the staff of the quartermaster general where he became a liaison officer for the Army-Navy Petroleum board. That board had the tough job of deciding who was to get how much of the fuel available—the army, the navy, or the civilian.

On January 2, 1945 he flew to San Francisco and reported to navy officials, ready for service on the petroleum group that was to aid the navy in its job of getting the gasoline and oil to its destination.

Complicated Problems

From there he flew to Pearl Harbor to join Admiral Nimitz's staff. "It was a long journey across the ocean to Pearl Harbor," he relates, "but I was just learning what water looks like. Pearl Harbor is fairly close compared to the hop from Pearl Harbor to Australia."

The officers had the job of setting up schedules for the tankers. "There had to be tankers constantly going to the United States and South America to pick up the fuel from the refineries. There had to be tankers delivering the fuel to all installations. Some tankers with equipment aboard for making fresh water had to stay constantly with the fleet to provide water for those ships without the water making equipment."

Praise for Seabees

"There were a thousand jobs for the tankers to do and only a few of the huge ships available by comparison. The schedules had to be tight so that no time would be wasted," he explained.

In the meantime Heiney and his fellow officers had to get to forward installations and set up shore facilities to unload the tankers. He was at Okinawa at D plus 5, he was at Guam, and in the Philippines shortly after the troops raced ashore in order to direct the setting up of huge tanks for storage of the fuel. Docks had to be constructed out into the water to the places where the ship could come along them, pipes and pumping stations had to extend from the docks so that ships

County Blanketed By Heaviest Fall Of Snow This Year

Adams county today dug itself out of the heaviest snowfall of the winter with J. William Kendlehart, Jr., state highway superintendent, stating that reports from highway workers show from 10 to 13 inches of snow throughout the county.

Heaviest fall is in the upper section of the county and in the mountains with the smallest amount of snow covering the Hanover-Littlestown section, the state highway superintendent reported today.

The last large snowfall in the county took place December 18-19 when an eight-inch blanket covered the entire county.

Heaviest Snow In Years

The 60 state highway employees who have been laboring since 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon to keep open the main highways said that the snow was the heaviest, and most difficult to remove from the roads, in several years.

Sixteen snowplows, on 12 trucks and four graders, were being employed today in widening the cleared strip on all main highways. The 16 highway caretakers throughout the county were out with pickup trucks and cinders to clean off bridges, cinder road intersections and generally meet the difficulties brought about by the storm. Gettysburg's borough workers were busy keeping town streets open.

Mr. Kendlehart said that the crews expected to complete work today on the main highways and would begin possibly Thursday the work of cleaning off the secondary road system of the county.

Starting at 2 o'clock Tuesday, the crews were able to keep all main highways open throughout the night. The only traffic block reported was on West Middle street where a tree fell in the second block, cutting off traffic on that street.

Brave Storm To See Show

One of those "marooned" in Gettysburg by the storm is Lt. Col. T. B. "Bey" Harper enroute to Kentucky after recently returning from more than two years' service in Burma. Colonel Harper served with the army unit here during the 75th anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg observance.

The storm and hazardous driving did not daunt a carload of Gettysburg women who drove to Hershey to see the Ice-Capades. However, they paid for their "bravery" with two flat tires and delayed return home.

One Army officer left Indiantown Gap at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon and did not arrive in Gettysburg until 7 p. m.

OUSTED VETS' CABBIES HERE

The storm Tuesday night and today scattered the army of some 300 Chicago veteran taxi cab drivers all over south central Pennsylvania with some of the cabs showing up in Gettysburg enroute to Hagerstown where the group arranged to meet today to start a united trip to Washington, D. C.

Robert Risner, his wife and two children were occupants of one of the several cabs which came through Gettysburg shortly before noon today. Four other drivers came through town at various times this morning. All were driving black and cream painted taxis which carried a "ruined duck" (discharge) emblem and the words "Chicago Veterans Cab."

The group set up a taxi service in Chicago, Risner said, for returned veterans who wanted to earn their living by operating taxis. However, the city refused to license the cabs and police began arresting the veterans as they made their trips, Risner continued. As a result the veterans are headed for Washington to ask national assistance in breaking what they term a "monopoly" by existing Chicago taxi companies.

The veterans expect to be met at Washington by veterans from Philadelphia and other sections who have been refused the right to drive taxis because their vehicles are not part of the previously licensed taxi operating organizations.

Risner, a member of the committee to raise funds selected by the veterans, served a year in the U. S. army.

NEED 30 YEARS TO "CLEAN-UP" CITY OF ESSEN

By DEWITT MACKENZIE AP World Traveler

Essen, Germany, Feb. 20.—It has to be seen to be believed but this great industrial and coal mining city, which was blown to smithereens by American and British bombing during the last year of the war still breathes and moves and has a being. Even more remarkable is the fact that this home of the colossal Krupp armament works was by no means the sole city to cling to a thread of life in the manmade earthquake which swept the manufacturing centers of the Ruhr. Essen's ghastly survival is typical of her sister cities. During years of globe trotting your correspondent has encountered few world wonders that have come up to the expectations inspired by advance notices, but among those which have completely fulfilled their promise must be included the bombing of the Ruhr.

Essen Is Ruined

Essen is an awesome example, for virtually every building in this city—which sprawled over many square miles and contained a peak population of nearly three quarters of a million—is in ruins. The destruction is so nearly complete that experts estimate it will require 30 years to remove the rubble alone so that reconstruction can be undertaken. How then can this city be alive?

Well, it's difficult to answer that question. Still, the fact remains that some 365,000 people are living—if you call their mode of existence living—and working among the ruins. The whole thing is like a stage fantasy. The streets, with block after block and mile after mile of ruined buildings, are filled with people who are scurrying about with all the energy but apparently aimless purpose of a colony of ants.

There are well dressed men with brief cases under their arms, workmen, women with shopping bags, children who are equally occupied with some mysterious errand.

Cave Man Shelters

These scores of thousands actually are living among the ruins, many in the cellars. A lot of folk are salvaging bricks and building themselves little huts against the walls of partly demolished houses. Some lucky people discovered buildings with a few rooms more or less intact and are making their homes in these. Probably the cold and rains come in, but it is cave man shelter.

And the purpose of all this? It's partly because Essen was the home of most of these folk. Not so long ago they had houses and apartments and business establishments there. Moreover, on of Germany's great problems is to find housing for displaced peoples. Then, too, the coal mines in the Essen area are operating and many miners are among those who live in the ruins. Other activities are getting under way and naturally there are many German civilians engaged in civic duties.

British Feed People

Scattered about the city are tiny shops which sell rationed food. Speaking of food raises the question of where the big population gets its sustenance. The British administration sees to it that every man, woman and child in this zone of operations gets daily rations. That is true not only in Essen but in other places.

What is going on in Essen is being duplicated in most other places in the Ruhr. Folks are clinging to their ruins and seem bent on making a go of it. The moral to this story is that the German people are possessed of an immense amount of energy and persistence. Hitler harnessed these qualities for evil purposes. The Allies must harness them for good.

Wins House Seat In Special Election

New York, Feb. 20 (AP)—Former Rep. Arthur G. Klein, Democratic candidate, was the winner today in a special Congressional election in the 19th District of Manhattan's lower east side.

Klein, who tallied 17,393 votes by unofficial count, was trailed by Johannes Steel, radio commentator and American Labor party choice, who received 13,321, and Army Capt. William S. Shea, Republican, who received 4,314.

The election yesterday—necessitated by the resignation of Democratic Rep. Samuel Dickstein to become a state supreme court justice—marked the ALP's first test of strength as a possible third party in the city and its first solo attempt to win a major political office in New York.

6 Firemen Burned In Camden Blaze

Camden, N. J., Feb. 20 (AP)—More than 100 firemen fought a stubborn three-alarm fire which destroyed the Kresge building in the heart of Camden's business district early today.

Six firemen suffered burns when a back draft of flame enveloped them. Four were trapped briefly on a second floor until rescued by comrades.

The fire is believed to have started in the basement of the S. S. Kresge store, which occupies the first floor of the two-story structure. Professional offices are on the second floor.

Pope Speaks To World On Church

London, Feb. 20 (AP)—Pope Pius XII told the assembly of Cardinals that "it is the church which rises today in this torn world like a signal because without God there cannot be among men real unity." The Pope's broadcast from Vatican City was recorded in London by the Associated Press.

Speaking in the Vatican's high, frescoed Hall of Benedictions the Pope commented on "this poor world in which hunger is so prevalent."

The address, broadcast in Italian by the Vatican radio, began at 12:23 p. m. Eastern Standard time, after the Pope had placed a biretta on the heads of 29 of the 32 new Cardinals created at Monday's secret consistory.

Senators To Hear Ex-Ickes Assistant

Washington, Feb. 20 (AP)—Senators battling one another over Edwin W. Pauley cleared the ring today for Abe Fortas, who used to be Harold L. Ickes' right hand man.

What Fortas may have to say shaped up as the major question mark in the far-ranging inquiry into Pauley's qualifications to be undersecretary of the navy.

Senator Tobey (R-NH), who has been leading the fight against confirmation of the former Democratic national committee treasurer, said the one-time undersecretary of the Interior would be called to the stand during the day.

Ickes, who quit in an explosive huff when President Truman said the cabinet officer could have been mistaken about the conversation, told the Senate Naval committee that Fortas was the only other person present at the time.

President Signs Employment Bill

Washington, Feb. 20 (AP)—President Truman today signed an employment and production bill which Congress passed as a compromise for so-called "full employment" legislation.

Aimed at establishing a government policy of promoting employment, production and purchasing power, the president's original measure was toned down sharply on Capitol Hill.

In its final form, it provides a council of three economic advisers at salaries of $15,000 who will assist and advise the president in the preparation of a periodic "economic report" to the Congress.

This report, together with supplements issued as the council may see fit, will be studied by a joint committee on the economic report. This group, consisting of seven members from each house of Congress, will seek methods of implementing the recommendations.

HIROHITO SEES REPATRIATES: GAUNT WRECKS

By DUANE HENNESSY

Kurihama, Japan, Feb. 20 (AP)—Emperor Hirohito stood nervously beside hospital beds of some gaunt repatriates from his vanished navy today and saw the despair and misery that years of disastrous war had brought.

To one returned sailor kneeling on his bed in reverence, the emperor said:

"Thank you for all of your hardships."

It was the second successive day that Hirohito crossed his imperial palace moat to see the ruins of his nation. He came southward today to visit military and civilian repatriation centers at Uraga and Kurihama. He moved among human wreckage—men wasted by malaria and malnutrition on the lost islands of the Pacific.

In the recently-activated Uraga repatriation barracks, returned Japanese sailors came to attention on their sleeping mats, bowed and then stood erect.

Didn't Tell Truth

"From where did you come?" he asked one.

"From the Pacific islands."

"Did you have enough to eat?"

"Yes."

Hirohito moved down the bare wooden hall. Another sailor turned to the one who had spoken to the emperor and said angrily:

"Why didn't you tell him the truth—that we had only sweet potatoes?"

The repatriation buildings had been scrubbed relentlessly for the occasion. Clean, too, was the 1,400-bed Kurihama National hospital.

Most of the patients were too weak to crawl from between bed covers to pay homage. Hirohito looked on the dull-eyed faces, stretched tight by hunger or sapped by malaria. He said nothing. To those who knelt on the beds and bowed, he spoke at intervals.

In the afternoon, he visited the Kamoi temporary home for repatriates south of Uraga. The place usually quarters Japanese who renounced their American citizenship, but there was none today. The stench was so strong that correspondents and photographers deserted Hirohito in one hallway and poured through the door into fresh air.

Despondent, Hopeless

Many windows in the barracks were paneless, and the halls were dusty and dirty although boards were still wet from the mopping which preceded Hirohito's arrival. In the bare cold rooms, entire families stood facing open doors to bow when the emperor passed.

Every face was one of despondency and hopelessness. All were in rags. Outside, many women and children were lined up. The emperor paused in front of a dirty-faced little girl and asked:

"Are you cold?"

She broke into sobs.

The day ended at Mabori barracks, where repatriated soldiers stood at stiff attention and did an eyes right as Hirohito walked by. They were well-fed men, former prisoners of war. Their uniforms were clean. But for all their military air, they were weaponless—beaten.

Slash Pint From Whisky Rationing

Harrisburg, Feb. 20 (AP)—The State Liquor Control Board today reduced the whisky ration allotment to individuals from one-fifth of a gallon and one pint to a fifth for the next ration period beginning Monday, March 4.

The board said the reduction was necessary because of federal curtailment of the use of grain for distilling.

The next ration period will be for two weeks, extending through Saturday, March 16.

"Retail licensees will continue to be allotted 90 percent of their former normal basic purchases," the board said in a statement. "Rationing restrictions do not apply to brandy, rum, gin, or wine or any State store merchandise other than whisky."

1200 Dairy Workers Strike In Detroit

Detroit, Feb. 20 (AP)—An estimated 1,200 employees of three large Detroit dairies walked off their jobs today, shutting off milk deliveries to approximately 400,000 families in the metropolitan area.

About 100 employees of a fourth dairy left their jobs early today but returned after five and a half hours when the management agreed to meet their demands.

The strikers, members of the CIO's United Dairy Workers, were turned back by union stewards when they reported for work this morning. The union, in a modified demand, is asking 10 cents an hour wage increase, retroactive to September 1, 1945, and an additional 10 cents hourly to be paid upon approval by the Wage Stabilization board, provided such approval is received within 60 days.

HITLER STOLE TAPESTRIES

Nuernberg, Feb. 20 (AP)—Adolf Hitler drove to Prague by fast automobile on the first day of the invasion of Czechoslovakia, personally stole a half-dozen fine tapestries and left with them in his possession at daybreak the following morning. Soviet Prosecutor L. R. Sheynin told the International Military Tribunal today.

"This example of low looting by the head of a state was typical of the predatory motives of the Nazi regime, which after careful plundering set about the systematic plundering of private, public and national property in occupied countries," Sheynin declared.

German troops were barely across the border before convoys of looted equipment were on the way back to the Reich, he said, adding that new street cars and trams were lifted bodily off their tracks or taken from the factories and sent into Germany. River vessels, he said, were seized and divided between the Hungarians.

Within hours after the arrival of Nazi troops more than $25,000,000 in gold was confiscated, Sheynin told the court.

As evidence that despoliation and plunder was a preconceived plan, Sheynin asked the tribunal to take judicial notice of a written address by the late defendant Robert Ley, published in 1940, which said: "It is our destiny to belong to a race of higher standing. Lower people need less room, food and clothing than we."

Courts Divided On Vets' Rights To Jobs

Washington, Feb. 20 (AP)—Courts are divided on the extent of a veteran's right to his old job — the so-called "superiority issue" — Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service chief, reported today.

Two courts have upheld the right of the veteran "to absolute reinstatement and continuance in the job for one year so long as such jobs are available," Hershey said in a prepared statement given out at an American Legion national employment committee conference.

But in two other decisions, Hershey related, "the courts declared that the veteran was not entitled to continuous work following reinstatement if his seniority placed him in a position where he ordinarily would have been laid off."

A Circuit Court of Appeals ruling, expected soon, will have great weight "on this much-discussed issue," Hershey said.

Vote On Fund For 2,700,000 Homes

Washington, Feb. 20 (AP)—The question of putting $1,600,000,000 in federal funds behind President Truman's program for 2,700,000 new houses came up for a vote today in the house banking committee.

It must decide whether to write into the bill a provision for a $1,000,000,000 increase in the federal housing administration's authorization to insure housing mortgages, and also whether the government, as Mr. Truman recommends, should provide $600,000,000 for subsidy payments to bring out larger production of scarce building materials.

Meanwhile, Chairman Spence (D-Ky.) telegraphed Henry Ford 2nd, inviting him to appear personally before the committee to give his side of the Ford motor company's argument for OPA on automobile price ceilings.

Mine Supervisors Keeping 2,500 Idle

Pittsburgh, Feb. 20 (AP)—A strike of supervisory workers at seven Hillman Coal & Coke company mines today went into its third day, keeping some 2,500 miners idle and cutting off production estimated by the company at 12,000 tons a day.

The idle mines were Black Diamond, Gibson Ontario and Washington, all in Washington county; Clyde No. 2 and Emerald in Greene county, and Oakmont, near New Kensington, Allegheny county.

A company spokesman said the dispute originated at the Washington mine over a supervisory employee who had been changed to a lighter job at his own request, then demanded reinstatement to his original job, which the company refused. The spokesman said picketing and persuasion closed the other six mines.

The miners themselves were not on strike but the walkout of the supervisors, some of whom make safety inspections, made it impossible for the other employees to work.

Sports Roundup

Borden would like to get Manuel Ortiz, Willie Pep and Ray Robinson, claiming he could make some good matches for them and that Robinson, in particular, could become an "idol" in France if he'd conquer his aversion to ships.

The catch, of course, is that after the boys shelled out for taxes, they'd probably find they could make more money fighting in Holyoke, Mass., Highland Park, N. J., or Harrah, Okla. . . . The Oklahoma City University Athletic Scholarship association, putting on a $50,000 campaign for just what the name indicates, is sending out posters that even have a blank check attached to make contributions painless.

Cellar Dwellers Turn Back Hershey

(By The Associated Press) The last place Western Division St. Louis Flyers are not being counted on for a playoff berth, but St. Louis hockey fans still turn out in good numbers to watch their American Hockey League club perform.

Last night 5,659 mound city customers saw the Flyers trounce the second place Eastern Division Hershey Bears, 7-5. It was the Flyers' second victory in their last eight contests and moved St. Louis to within five points of the third place Cleveland Barons.

Most of the action occurred during the middle sessions when St. Louis netted four goals and the Bears three. Both teams had scored single tallies in the opening round and the Flyers notched two more markers in the closing chapter to sew up the conflict.

Buffalo's league leading Eastern Division Eagles play host to the New Haven Blades tonight while the Bears invade Cleveland in the loop's only other contest.

55 Points Elevates Hali Back To Lead

(By The Associated Press)

New York, Feb. 20 (P)—Bill Hall of Marshall (W.Va.) college, bounced back to the top of the nation's collegiate high basketball scorers last week, ending the brief reign of Elmore Morgenthaler of New Mexico Mines.

Hall scored 55 points in three games to regain the top rung at 505 points, the Associated Press weekly tabulation showed today. Morgenthaler scored 27 points in one game and fell to second at 485.

There was no change in the remainder of the first five scorers. Retained third at 461 points, George Mikan of DePaul, fourth at 444 and Andy Tonkovich of Marshall, fifth at 442. Don Otten of Bowling Green with 405 and Harold Brown of Evansville at 403 are the only others to have crossed the 400-point mark.

PANTHERS HEAD COURT TANGLES

Philadelphia, Feb. 20 (P)—At least 20 Keystone state collegiate basketball quintets take to the hardwoods tonight with a Westminster-Pittsburgh tussle in western Pennsylvania headlining the action.

The Pitt Panthers, laced successively by Penn State and Army, play host to the improving Titans—and from all respects the winner of the fray will be the unofficial king of collegiate court circles in the western section of the state.

In eastern Pennsylvania, Muhlenberg and Temple—two of the top quintets in the nation—hold sway.

The Mules tangle with St. Joseph's college at Allentown and on the basis of past performance and a record of 18 wins and two losses, the dopests figure it will be an easy victory No. 19 for Muhlenberg.

Temple university's Owls, riding the crest of a four-game win streak—longest of the present season—journey to Valley Forge hospital at Phoenixville. The Owls beat the Medics earlier this season and figure to repeat.

DUMBELL

Some can make a pretty speech.
Say the little things that matter.
Words a woman's heart to reach.
Some with artfulness can flatter.

Some can praise the lady's hat
So that she will think they mean it.
I get told when I try that
"It's the second year you've seen it!"

Not a keen observer I.
Graced with all the arts of Cupid.
When to praise the girls I try,
I am answered: "Don't be stupid!"

FRIENDLINESS

I know of no other pursuit that pays so great a dividend in hope, happiness, and perhaps, in heaven itself, than our everyday Friendliness. I look upon it as man's greatest asset. If it could only be made a universal virtue—and applied by all, what a world we would make it! That one triumph would forever solve the atomic bomb business—because no one would fear it.

Nothing is more natural, or inborn, than this Friendliness. It is all through Nature. Be alone in the forest, or in some beautiful isolated spot, and before you know it, there will appear friendly birds and creatures of the wild, gathering about you, just to offer and to gain, this Friendliness.

For years I have experienced this at my summer Nova Scotia island retreat. Each year I return to my little friends, the red squirrels, and they remember me by immediately taking peanuts from my hands and sitting on my knee to enjoy them. Many times I have gone to my workshop half a mile from the Lodge, hardly arriving before one of the more friendly ones, would be there, and up on my bench!

We seek out those of our kind who are friendly. They nourish us in many a way. They boost our spirit. They add to our appreciation of all things beautiful and wholesome. They add zest to whatever we do.

Friendliness is not only spoken, it is felt. And Friendliness that is felt is the most wonderful. It doesn't have to be explained. It's just there, and it flows through you. Henry Ford once said of a friend of his: "You are being led, I feel it. You have faith, I feel it. You have God in you, I feel it."

We know our friends the moment we meet them, though never before contacted. Like water immediately mixing with water, and being one, so with Friendliness—it becomes a part of all Friendliness.

We must be a friend in order to attract one. Then it is that Friendliness blossoms and blooms! And it radiates in all directions. So often you hear the phrase: "What a lot of friends he has!" That's just the evidence that he is one.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Animal Life."

Order Approval Of Pre-Policy' Increases

Washington, Feb. 19 (AP)—The National Wage Stabilization Board today ordered automatic approval, or price relief purposes, of all wage increases "lawfully made" before the new wage-price policy was announced.

In a blanket authorization, designed to clear the board's docket or an expected rush of new wage approval applications, the agency directed its 12 regional boards to hear out most of 669 cases on file prior to February 14.

The employers involved now may bypass the Stabilization Board and appeal directly to OPA for price increases.

Wage cases included under today's order were those which, under the wage-price policy, were "heretofore lawfully made, or made in accordance with a government recommendation . . ."

It was pointed out in the meeting that some time in the future Gettysburg would be compelled to erect a new high school building. The board seemed to feel that they were justified in accepting the proposition from a financial consideration alone.

NEGOTIATIONS IN LANCASTER MAKE PROGRESS

Lancaster, Pa., Feb. 20 (AP)—AFL pickets maintained a steady march around numerous business and industrial establishments today, despite heavy snow drifts, as a general strike remained in effect amid indications that labor-management negotiations to settle a 15-day-old transit walkout were making progress.

John R. Murray, U. S. labor conciliator who arranged conferences between spokesmen for the strike-bound Conestoga Transportation company and the 220 AFL-Amaalgated association of street, electric railway and motor coach employees, said he "was pleased with the way things are going."

Meantime, officials of the AFL-Central Labor union claimed their "no work" order was effective, but were unable to estimate the total number of workers idled.

Milk, Bread Delivered

A reporters' survey, however, based on individual estimates of various local union spokesmen showed:

1. Except for the closing of all super-markets, Lancaster's food supply was not affected. Six local farmers' markets and many independent groceries, mainstay of most of the city's 60,000 residents, remained open.

2. All union trucking suspended, but deliveries of milk and bread continued as usual. (Number of truckers idle not available).

3. 200 AFL musicians idled through cancellation of all scheduled local radio programs. Six movie houses shut down when AFL projectionists stayed out.

4. Sixty workers stayed away at the Kuntz Meat Packing company plant suspending that firm's business in the Lancaster-York-Hanover-Harrisburg-Hanover area.

5. Two breweries closed. Brewery workers' union said 75 members out, closing two breweries and 16 distributing houses.

6. Moulders union reported 400 out in shutdown of three foundries.

7. Building trades' council said approximately 600 stopped work.

8. Members of barbers', bakery and confectionary locals not participating, while only 17 plasterers reported out.

The Transit company kept its 85 buses and 25 trolleys inside car barns and garages refusing to attempt operation by volunteer workers without police protection.

Mayor Dale C. Cary, asserted he was "interested in restoring transportation to all the people as soon as possible" and would do all in his power to get service restored.

The strike began Feb. 6 to support demands for a 20 cent an hour wage increase and 25 other contract benefits.

Spokesmen for CIO unions, which have refused to join the AFL in its general strike call, said that organization would support the Transit Workers' picket lines at the car barns.

Advices Against Small Air Lines

Philadelphia, Feb. 20 (AP)—A discharged serviceman who has ideas of starting a small airline of his own should think twice "before going off the deep end," says Capt. Eddie V. Rickenbacker, because he won't be able to compete with large commercial firms now operating.

Rickenbacker, president of Eastern Airlines and famed World War I ace, told newsmen yesterday "A veteran service pilot will have a much more secure berth if he associates himself with a big airline than if he starts a small one of his own."

Eastern expects to increase its present roster of 475 pilots to 1,000, Rickenbacker said, if the Civil Aeronautics board approved his firm's proposal to provide air service to 24 additional communities in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware, West Virginia and Ohio on already-established routes.

Rickenbacker, at a hearing of the Middle Atlantic case, told Chief CAB examiner Charles Frederick that Eastern plans to operate a total of 32 flights daily between New York and Washington. He asserted Eastern had placed orders for 40 new planes each of which will carry 52 or 60 passengers.

Canadian Cabinet Takes Up Atom Probe

Ottawa, Feb. 19 (AP)—The Canadian cabinet in its regular meeting today was reported to have taken up broader phases of the government's investigation into the leakage of secret information which is said to have concerned atomic energy.

No authoritative information came from the cabinet council, however, and the investigation primarily was in the hands of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Meanwhile, best available information indicated there was no connection between the investigation and the government probe into the Eldorado Gold Mines, Ltd., Canada's source of uranium.

For one thing, those arrested for making authorized deliveries from the Eldorado mine have been released on $5,000 bail, while suspects in the espionage case are being held incommunicado.

Growing the Centaureas

Centaureas comprise a fairly large genus of ornamentals variously known as Cornflowers, Bachelor's Buttons, Dusty Millers, Basketflowers, Ragged Sailors, Blue-bottles, and Sweet Sultans. Perhaps there are several additional localized names. But all in all, the group demands recognition for many roles in which attractive bedding, foliage and blooming plants are needed. They are mostly treated as annuals, although they include members of semi-perennial habits.

Basketflower is located as Centaurea americana. Its flowers are thistle-like in form and are excellent to use as cut ornaments. This is perhaps the most difficult of the entire group to grow. Seed should be sown in the open where the plants are to grow, preferably as early as soil and weather conditions permit. The plants do not respond favorably to transplanting, although early specimens can be started in individual pots and shifted later to their growing sites. It is advisable to bring Basketflowers to full bloom before hot weather arrives in late summer.

Sweet Sultan is listed as C. moschata, although in some seed catalogues it is carried as C. imperialis. There is some confusion in common nomenclature regarding this and other species, as many persons know Sweet Sultans as Bachelor's Buttons, while C. cyanus, usually called Cornflower, is often termed Bachelor's Button. Culture is similar to that suggested for growing Basketflowers. There is a yellow member listed as C. suaveolens, commonly known as Grecian Cornflower.

The Cornflower is considered the most beautiful of the entire genus. It is known, as already mentioned, as Bachelor's Button, also Ragged Sailor and French Pink. It is easy to grow and profuse in its floral rewards. Blue predominates, with pinks, whites, mauves, maroon and rose shades appearing. Seed should be sown in coldframes, windowboxes or seed flats 5 to 7 weeks before the last frost is expected and the tiny seedlings shifted to roomier frames or individual pots after two or three leaves develop. Usually a frame that permits transplants 4 to 6 inches apart each way proves satisfactory.

Final shifting to the growing site should be completed after danger of hard freezes is past. This Centaurea withstands light frosts without injury. This is considered one of the "old-fashioned" flowers.

Dusty Miller is perennial in habit, although it is usually treated as an annual, that is, it is grown from seed soon each spring. It is listed as C. gymnocarpa, with at least two other species entitled to the same classification. In the search for gray-foliated plants to lend an atmosphere of distance to the home grounds, Dusty Miller serves a useful role. It is used chiefly as an edging plant, also in hanging baskets. Seed should be sown under glass or in a window box in late March and plants shifted to individual 4-inch pots to continue growth until time to move them to their growing place in late April or early May.

All the Centaureas prefer a deeply mellow, well drained loam where some rotted and finely pulverized manure has been worked through the top 6 inches at least two to three weeks before plants are transplanted or seed sown in the open.

Success With Garden Peas

Garden peas are members of the legume family of plants—clovers, alfalfa, sweet peas, soybeans, cowpeas and others. They are not injured by light frosts, hence they can be grown early and late. In fact, they are among the first vegetables to be planted and should be grown in a succession of plantings every two or three weeks to provide a continuous production from late spring until mid-autumn.

Many home gardeners make their first planting in a sunny, well-drained site around March 10 to 15, with a second planting in late March or early April. Peas do not withstand hot mid-summer weather well, therefore, they should have a prominent place in the spring and late summer garden plans. The last planting should be stressed for canning and drying roles, with maturity coming even after the first light frosts of autumn.

Like most other legumes, peas demand a deeply mellow loam in which their long roots may delve unhampered for food and moisture. It is not uncommon to find pea

NO AGREEMENT IN SIGHT YET IN PITT STRIKE

Pittsburgh, Feb. 20 (AP)—Negotiations before a three-man board went into their third day here today without getting any nearer settlement of a wage dispute between the Duquesne Light Co. and the Independent union of its employees.

The union announced it had increased its wage demand from 35 to 37 per cent. The company did not announce any increase of its previously offered 7 1/2 per cent.

George L. Mueller, president of the union, told the negotiating board, headed by Pittsburgh Mayor David L. Lawrence, that the union committee was "under mandate" from the membership not to accept any settlement under 20 per cent. The other 17 per cent, Mueller said, would be negotiable.

The union head said the 20 per cent would compensate workers for the five-year period from 1941 in which the company granted wage raises averaging 12 1/2 per cent; the other 17 per cent, he said, would be in line with average wage increases recently granted in the steel, electric and automobile industries.

Public Worried

A company spokesman declined to comment on Mueller's statements because they "involved wages" and the company did not wish to discuss when moisture is lacking in order to hasten germination.

Irrigation during long periods of rainless weather pays big dividends with peas. One of the important keys to prolonging vine productivity is too keep pods picked fairly close in order to prevent any ripening on the vine. This precaution stimulates continued blooming and pod formation.

Penn-Harris Hotel Has Air Duct Fire

Harrisburg, Feb. 20 (AP)—A two-hour fire, originating in a first-floor kitchen, swept skyward through a ventilating shaft of the 12-story, 400-room Penn-Harris hotel here last night, but did not result in serious damage.

Franklin Moore, managing director of the hotel, said only two guests were routed by the blaze which caused a property loss of several thousand dollars.

Flames, started by an explosion of fat in the kitchen, fed on a wages publicly while negotiations were in progress.

Mueller declared Duquesne's profits are in excess of the 6 per cent allowed by the public utilities commission and predicted they will be even greater this year because of reductions from wartime tax rates.

The public watched the conferees closely, fearful of a renewal of last week's power and light strike which crippled Pittsburgh industries during a 19-hour period last week.

Sitting with Mayor Lawrence on the negotiating board are State Secretary of Labor and Industry William H. Chesnut and Federal Conciliator Charles Kutz.

Boost U.S. Cost Of Water Project

Washington, Feb. 20 (AP)—The army engineers raised to $342,016,000 today their estimate of the total cost to the United States of the proposed St. Lawrence seaway and power project.

The revised figure is roughly $57,000,000 more than the engineers' 1941 estimate. It was placed before a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee by Lt. Gen. R. A. Wheeler, chief of the Army Engineers Corps. The committee is considering legislation to authorize the seaway.

Wheeler said total cost to Canada will be $277,484,000 of which $132,672,000 has been expended to date. Of the United States' total $342,016,000 cost, $31,742,000 has been spent.

Combined total cost of the entire project to both countries is $619,500,000.

Estimating the average power available from the site at 12.6 billion kilowatt hours, annually, Wheeler described it as the "largest block of power available for development at any point on the North American continent."

TAXICAB ARMY BUCKS DRIFTS ON LONG TREK

Pittsburgh, Feb. 20 (AP)—Hampered by snow ranging up to a foot in depth, the 148-car Chicago-to-Washington taxicab caravan was scattered all along the Pennsylvania Turnpike today, with a few members already heading through Maryland for the nation's capital.

State police along the route said the weary travelers—350 former service men and their wives riding in their own taxis—took hotel rooms wherever they could find them, at Somerset, Bedford and other towns.

Others parked their cars on side streets and slept a few chilly hours before resuming the trek. And some simply kept driving all night, making stops only at wayside points for hamburgers and coffee.

The motorcade is composed of veterans protesting a Chicago ordinance limiting the number of taxis to 3,000. They want to drive their cream-and-white taxis in Chicago.

Pittsburgh At Noon

The former servicemen hope to get relief through federal action. The drivers ran into snow and sleet when they crossed the West Virginia panhandle from Ohio into Pennsylvania yesterday. The main body arrived in Pittsburgh around noon and left in a snowstorm in the evening, splashing through two inches of slush.

The snow gradually deepened as the party moved eastward, reaching 12 inches at Breesezwood interchange, 110 miles east of here. At Breesezwood, the party was to turn off toward Hancock, Md., proceeding thence to Washington by way of Hagerstown, Md.

State police at Hancock reported a foot of snow there and said about the same amount would be found the rest of the way to Washington. But the snowfall stopped last night in Maryland and roads were open, so little additional travel difficulty was foreseen.

Hancock officers said three of the cream-and-white cabs had passed through the town at an early hour today.

Some Mishaps Reported

State troopers along the Pennsylvania Turnpike reported a number of the cabs broke down and others skidded off the roads, but that no serious mishaps were reported.

Ex-soldiers Joseph Murphy and William Quain explained the purpose of the caravan by saying: "We want to get the government to bring pressure to bear on the city of Chicago to grant us a franchise."

Edgar Sirles, president of the American cab drivers' association, said his group would put its case before the Department of Justice on the grounds that the two-company control of the taxi business in Chicago was a monopoly.

ground and become timid of the future. "Grow old along with me, the best is yet to be," he quoted, and declared that "as long as a person believes the best is yet to be, he is climbing, and in the mind of God, as revealed in Christ, the best is yet to be."

Dr. Sockman said, secondly, that "prince" suggests rule and organization, while "pioneer" conveys the idea of personal, individual, exploratory work. "We need today a better combination of organization and exploratory work," he said. "We can't be as individualistic as our grandfathers, but there is always the danger that we may get so interested in organizing that we forget the individual."

"Need the Prince as Pioneer"

"There is always the danger that as a group grows, the smaller the individual may get. Organization is apt to kill the sense of responsibility, and of sin and of human worth."

Dr. Sockman emphasized the need of the application of both organization and personal experience for the young people in church and Sunday school. "We preach to them in church, and we talk to them in Sunday school, but do we give them the personal experiences and participation? We need the personal experience to keep our religion vital. We need to give the young people personal experience."

"We need to take Christ, the Prince of the church, with us as a pioneer in every great, new enterprise."

MOTORISTS ARE URGED TO SEEK PLATES EARLY

Motor vehicle owners were warned today by the Gettysburg Motor club to avoid a last-minute rush in making application for the new 1946-47 registration plates.

"Although there is still ample time between now and midnight, March 31, the deadline by which time vehicle owners must have their new registration plate and card," the club announcement said, "the days will slip by more rapidly than expected, and unless car owners take action immediately upon receiving their application, they may find themselves without tags."

"The Bureau of Motor Vehicles is now engaged in its gigantic task of issuing approximately 2,000,000 registration plates and cards by the deadline."

Avoid Late Rush

"The wise motorist will be the one who does not wait until the last minute to secure his renewal, but acts at once upon receiving his application. In that way he assures himself of continuous, uninterrupted driving, and at the same time cooperates with the Bureau of Motor Vehicles in avoiding a last-minute rush."

Pointing out that while conditions are improving now that the war is over in many places, the club statement said that such is not the case at the Bureau of Motor Vehicles. "The situation there is likely to be even more rushed than ever as thousands of car owners who had vehicles 'put up' during the war years make application for a registration plate now that restrictions on gasoline and tires are off."

SILT PLANS UP FOR APPROVAL

Harrisburg, Feb. 20 (AP)—First plans of hard coal operators to keep silt out of Pennsylvania streams as required by the 1945 Brunner law came before the State Sanitary Water Board for approval today.

The plans, which must meet approval of state engineers, were submitted by coal companies last year before the July 7, 1945 deadline fixed by the Brunner law. At that time, the board announced plans covering 99 per cent of the state's anthracite tonnage had been filed.

"Many installations for keeping out silt already are in operation," a board spokesman explained. However the board and its engineering staff have been tied up with consideration of other phases of the stream clean-up campaign and have been unable to complete necessary inspection work of silt plans, he added.

The board also was expected to follow up its decision to clean up the entire Schuylkill River with specific orders to communities and industries above Reading to prepare plans for treatment of sewage and industrial wastes.

In 1884 four men were taken alive out of a mine in England after twenty-four days without food.

FEILER BACKS DENVER TEAM

Chicago, Feb. 20 (AP)—Bob Feiler says he isn't going to end his baseball career when his arm gives out as a pitcher for the Cleveland Indians.

The former Iowa farm boy, who jumped from the amateurs into the majors to set records at the age of 17, already has stepped into the promotional end of the game and hopes to have the old western league reorganized for operation in 1947.

"All we need out in Denver now is a suitable ball park," the Cleveland fireball righthander said last night. "We want to put a class A ball team in Denver, and I can't see why we can't do it. I'm backing the team, and I have friends helping me. We have the organization. The city may provide the park. If not, we expect civic groups to do so."

Not to Quit Yet

He said Sioux City, Ia., and Lincoln, Neb., and Pueblo Colo., were ready to join the league, and that other cities which he did not name, also were seeking franchises.

"Don't get me wrong," Feiler said. "I don't want to retire as an active player. I'm going to pitch for Cleveland as long as the Indians will have me. I'll stay in there until they knock me out of the box too often—as long as my arm will last. I want to have some security after my playing days are over."

Feiler said that under present plans, anticipated airplane travel by 1947 would take care of distances that would be a big factor in the schedules. "The western league always had a transportation problem," he said. "Air travel should take care of that now."

CIO Orders 4,000 Pickets To Report

Pittsburgh, Feb. 20 (AP)—After a new company proposal had been rejected at a mass meeting of several thousand striking employees, the executive committee of the CIO-United next week.

Electrical Workers' ordered 4,000 members to report for picket duty Monday morning at the Westinghouse Electric corporation's big east Pittsburgh plant.

A company spokesman said the union had never kept more than 200 to 250 pickets on duty at the plant tries.

since the strike of its 18,000 workers began six weeks ago, and the usually the number was considerable less. A suit intended to limit picketing at the company gates is now pending in an Allegheny county court with a ruling expected early next week.

The new Westinghouse proposal contained no offer as to wages or hours. Gwilym A. Price, president of the company, said Westinghouse "pays wages 11 per cent higher than the electrical industry and 16 per cent higher than 25 major industries."
